Understanding Privelage and Taking Responsibility:
One Part of the Healing Process
Special Guest: Dr. Heidi A. Miller

Heidi A Miller, Ph.D. is Director of the Master's in Practical Theology and Assistant Professor of Practical Theology at Pfeiffer University with offices in Charlotte. She has directed programs and served as faculty at Duke University, Southern Methodist University, and Eastern Mennonite University. Dr. Miller has also co-founded and served as a Managing Director in non-profit organizations. Her areas of teaching, research, and writing focus on transformative aspects of leadership, spirituality, justice, and worship. She has also worked with business executives regarding the connection between theology and business vocation, and has been a consultant to church congregations undergoing transition and trauma, as well as with communities working with refugees. For more than 20 years she has worked in academic, church, medical, community, and counseling settings.
